ELECTION INSPECTORS

Governor Carter is considering names for appointments as election inspectors on nearly all of the islands. There are over eighty vacancies to be filled for the coming election.

As there are new campaign committees, the Governor desires to hear from these as to who they really desire for these important billets. The Governor does not wish to proceed in the matter on the old recommendations. Should he do so there would be sure to be protests.

Then he is in a quandary at times as to whether or not to appoint some person or persons named, not knowing anything about them.

"The position of election inspector is a very important one," said the Governor yesterday. "The men appointed must be responsible in every way. They occupy posts which have influence in the balloting. There was an inspector who boasted after an election that he had been able to change two hundred votes, simply reading them to the others. He concealed his method so well that he said he was able to change the entire vote. Of course, he was summoned to affirm or deny that statement. He denied it and said he must have been drunk when he made it."

"We want men as inspectors of whom it can not be said on election day that they drank or were drunk."

There were sixteen vacancies in the First District, twenty-one in the Second, fifteen in the Third, six in the Fourth, eight in the Fifth and eleven in the Sixth.

LUCIEN YOUNG'S BILLET.

Lucien Young, who recently reached his captaincy in the Navy, is slated to relieve Captain T. S. Phelps as officer in charge of the local naval recruiting depot when Phelps assumes the command of the fine new armored cruiser California. There are no officers in the service better known or better liked on the Pacific coast than Young and Phelps, and the many friends of both are rejoicing in the good stations that await them both. The California, it is understood, will be attached to the Pacific squadron. Captain Young has been on special duty at Mare Island for some months past, but his new duties will bring him to San Francisco. Mrs. Young and Miss Young recently arrived from the East and will not take an interest in social life this winter.—Town Talk.

WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN.

For the Week Ended September 15, 1906.

Honolulu, T. H., Sept. 17, 1906. Inch—H. D. Harrison.

GENERAL SUMMARY.
On Hawaii the number of stations showing a greater amount of rainfall than during the preceding week was, by a slight percentage, more than those showing less. The greatest difference was +1.91 inches at Pepeekeo, while -7.1 inch at Hakalau was the greatest deficiency. Pepeekeo, and Nahaia (850 ft.), report 3.63 and 3.99 inches, respectively, less rainfall than last week. At the remaining stations on Maui the differences did not exceed .39 inch. All stations on Oahu report less rainfall than during the preceding week, the greatest deficiency being -.56 inch at Kahuku. The majority of stations in northern and central Hawaii report lower mean temperatures than during the preceding week, while those in the southern portion report higher. The greatest difference occurred in the Waimea, and the interior of the Hilo districts. In extreme western Maui, southeastern Molokai, and northern Oahu, the mean temperatures were 1.0° to 1.2° higher than last week's, while the remaining stations on those islands report slightly lower temperatures, the greatest change not equalling 1.0 deg. The mean temperatures on Kauai were lower than those of the preceding week, and at one station, Lihue, did they equal 1.0 deg. HONOKAA, Sept. 13.—James Johnson, the oldest employee of Honokaa plantation, met with a serious accident yesterday. While walking on the track near the stable he got in the way of a car loaded with barley which came rushing along and Johnson, being rather deaf, did not hear it approach and was run over. Both legs were frightfully crushed and had to be amputated. Mr. Johnson died shortly afterward. The funeral took place at 2 p. m. today, with a large attendance. Deceased was 59 years old.

PROMOTION WORK AT THE NEW ZEALAND EXPOSITION.

On the Sierra Mr. Frank Holmes and his family will leave for New Zealand.

He will be honorary representative of the Hawaii Promotion Committee at the Exhibition of Christchurch, opening November 1, for six months, also tourists' agent for the Alexander Young and Moana hotels, the latter with which he has been closely identified the last year.

Few people know more of the requirements of tourists than he, and when it comes to the chain of California's tourist hotels, he is well at home, having been during the last eighteen years or so linked with them all from Portland to San Diego.

But for equability of climate, Mr.

Holmes says Hawaii is an easy winner. Mr. Holmes is taking along data for promotion work and expects to push a large class of the best tourists this way. He will also make a special effort to have a large number from the exposition visit Honolulu in February for the Pa-u Parade.

Some specimens of Hawaiian industries in the way of pins, sisal, sugar, rubber, etc., will probably be crated and sent on by the next steamer.

These are things that interest travelers immensely, especially European and Colonial visitors.

Any business people from Hawaii, or anyone going to the exhibition from here, will be made very welcome by Mr. Holmes, if they will look him up, and a big aloha will always greet them.
